Monday 1st April Taraxacum meeting (Taunton Herbarium; Somerset Heritage Centre) (VC5)

Aimed at those currently collecting/recording dandelions or those wishing to do so. Although dandelions are often seen as difficult (and it's true: they're not easy!) they nevertheless have a significant number of identification features that, with the help of keys and an 'expert eye', make them readily identifiable to species level. Collecting and pressing dandelions can be a tremendously satisfying pastime – an art as much as a science – and a nicely mounted and correctly named specimen is always a source of tremendous satisfaction.

This meeting will comprise a short introductory talk on Taraxacum, followed by a visit to the Herbarium (same building). In the afternoon we will venture onto road verges and waste ground adjoining the Heritage Centre to collect specimens, then return to the Centre to work through keys and press plants for eventual determination/confirmation by the national expert John Richards. Ultimately, some of these specimens may be mounted and added to the Herbarium collection.

Meet 9.45 am at Heritage Centre reception (ample parking outside front of building). Location: Somerset Heritage Centre, Brunel Way, Norton Fitzwarren, Taunton, TA2 6SF. Please bring packed lunch; tea/coffee and biscuits will be provided. Should be finished by 4 pm.

Numbers limited to 14, to book a place please send email to Simon Leach:

simonleach@phonecoop.coop. Booking opens 1st March. Last date for booking is 22nd March, as we have to provide list of attendees' names in advance to the South West Heritage Trust.
